Conceptualising Fairness in Classroom Assessment

The Question
How is classroom assessment fairness conceptualized by students?

Results
There are affective, cognitive, and behavioural consequences of fairness on students' learning.

Conclusions
Students' perceptions of fairness is shaped by student-teacher communication and relationships in addition to the outcomes experienced by the student.

Full article at cdeluca.com